There are a few pages about our next reunion as it is time to prepare our plans for this wonderful occasion, along with a map to guide us on our way.

Page 12 gives us some idea about how well organized a group we are and how much we are liked by our cousins and friends. We like to hear from you.

Page 16 will be noticed as we need help in getting some back issues of the SOULE Newsletter to bind. My back issues are all bound into books (two big volumes). I refer to them often. Please help our Secretary to get these special volumes.

Page 19 is given to show you what we need to know about our cousins, so we can identify each item we receive. You may use it as a guide for what items you do want to send, especially if it is not a printed newspaper clipping.

Pages 32 - 35 should help us to know what is being done about our SOULE lineages, Soule queries, etc. Send what you have proven to Col. John Soule if it has not been sent before. Asst. Historian, Mr. H. A. Thomas will help you prove items not proven before. If I, your editor, can assist in anyway, please feel free to write me. Col. John Soule has asked me to help with Indiana SOULE relatives in particular. He will route to me what I am to research about. Let's all get this five generation project moving along and see if the deadline can be met.

Thanks to our Indexer, Clara Hansen, we have our 1972 newsletters indexed and ready for this January issue.

This is a progress report to the Kindred on plans for the Soule Kindred Reunion 1973 in San Antonio, Texas.

(1.) We have reserved the Hilton Palacio del Rio as our headquarters. Our dates reserved are June 29th. 30th. and July 1.

(2.) Saturday June 30th. will be high light day. On this day we are booked for brunch at 10 o'clock in the morning, high in the Tower of the Americas. We will be 620 feet in the clouds. A Texas Barbecue that evening with the Kindred guests of the Harris family is another firm plan.

(3.) A lecture to be given by a Tonkwa Indian at the Institute of Texan cultures is being worked out. Your chairman is sending an invitation to Admiral Alan Sheperd and family of Houston to be the Kindred Reunion guests and join us at the Institute where it is hoped the Admiral will say a few words. It would indeed be a rare moment for us to combine a lecture on primitive ways and words from a modern space man at the same time; especially when the spaceman is a Mayflower descendant! Hope all of you will concentrate on this and that it works out!

(4.) Cousin Luke Soules is in charge of local sight seeing. A survey will be made to see if a trip to Mexico by rented bus would be warranted. The Board of Directors is invited to act as "Hosts and Hostesses" on their arrival in San Antonio throughout the period of the reunion.

(5.) Church together on Sunday at St. Mark's Episcopal church is firm. Hope our chaplain, Rev. Doane, will appear in Pilgrim clothes as our elder all during our reunion.

(6.) Lastly, please know that your chairman for the reunion is trying in every way to keep this a family gathering; not a convention. Costs are being carefully kept as low as possible with the best accommodations available. finding something of interest for all but especially our young cousins is our highest priority.

We cousins in Texas are pleased and proud to be visited by the Soule Kindred. We want to make the 1973 reunion a memorable one for all of you. We will do our best. We know that the New England of Duxbury and Plymouth is the heart place of the Soule Kindred for it is forever our ancestral home, but perhaps it will be fun to visit with each other and see new sights together this 1973 reunion.

Sincerely,

Betty Harris - Chairman

San Antonio, Texas
December 18, 1972

Dear Cousin Admiral Alan Shepard,

We, the Soule Kindred in America, descendants of George Soule, Pilgrim, are having our 1973 family reunion in San Antonio, Texas. This is the first time we have met outside the state of Massachusetts.

This year we are trying to attract more young people to our family gathering. To start our high light day, June 30th, we are planning a brunch atop the Tower of the Americas. Directly following brunch we plan to attend a lecture to be held at the nearby theater of the Institute of Texan Cultures. It will be a lecture about native plant uses of the early Indians; mainly for medicinal purposes. The cuerendero, or "medicine man", is Rocky Stallings, a part Tankwa Indian. He is the Institute specialist in this line.

We cordially invite you and your family to be the guests of our family at brunch and for the lecture.

If you, a modern spaceman and Mayflower descendant as well, might say a few words at the conclusion of the instruction on primitive Indian lore, it would be a rare moment indeed. Not only would it be a striking moment for our young people; it would be thought expanding for all of us to mentally leap across the centuries. Anything you might choose to say would be greatly appreciated.

We are family members from across the United States and Canada. Counting all members, babies included, we are perhaps 2000 in number, and growing as our search for more of us continues. We expect 150 or more to assemble in San Antonio.

We sincerely hope you can join us on June 30th.

Respectfully,

Mrs. Edna S. Harris

Plymouth in 1621, as we first gave thanks

'The governour sent foure men on fowling, so that we might after a more speciall manner rejoyce together'

By STEVEN MATTHEWS

The first Thanksgiving in Plymouth Colony took place in November, 1621, one year after the Pilgrims landed in the New World. With 90 Indians led by their chief, Massasoit, as guests, the tiny community celebrated their first harvest with three days of feasting (above).

WHEN YOU PUSH yourself away from the dinner table tonight feeling more thankful for the Alka Seltzer in your medicine chest than anything else, you can also give thanks that you weren't with the Pilgrims at their first Thanksgiving in 1621.

You won't have to look at another piece of turkey for another year; the Pilgrims' Thanksgiving meal lasted three days. You had to put up with only a bunch of noisy relatives; the Pilgrims' guests were 90 wary Indians. You had a choice of two parades, five football games and nine movies to entertain you on television; the Pilgrims had to be content with some staged swordplay, a close-order drill and an exhibition of musketry. You were well-protected from the elements; the Pilgrims had to eat outside, and on the Massachusetts coast that's no picnic in November.

But the Pilgrims who celebrated that Thanksgiving had plenty to be thankful for; they were alive.

Only 51 of the 102 Mayflower passengers had survived their first winter in the New World. By the time the Indian chief Massasoit brought his braves to the settlement of 10 small buildings at Plymouth for the feast, however, the community was reasonably well off.

The colony's governor, William Bradford, described the situation in his diary:

"They begane now to gather in the small harvest they had, and to fitte up their houses and dwellings against winter, being all well recovered in health and strength, and had all things in good plenty; for as some were thus employed in affairs abroad, others were exercised in fishing, aboute codd, and bass, and other fish, of which they tooke good store, of which every family had their portion.

"All the sommer ther was no wante. And now begane to come in store of fowle, as winter approached, of which this place did abound when they first came (but afterward decreased by degrees). And besides water fowle, there was great store of wild Turkeys, of which they tooke many, besides venison, etc."

To celebrate their good fortune, the "Governor sent foure men on fowling, that so we might after a more speciall manner rejoyce together," colonist Edward Winslow wrote to a friend in England shortly after the event.

Most of the food the Pilgrims served their Indian guests would look familiar on a contemporary table. But the variety of dishes and the amounts they consumed would probably make even the biggest eater at your table burp.

In addition to the "Turkies," ducks and geese brought back by the "fowlers," there was "codd, bass and other fish," clams, mussels, eels, corn bread, leeks, plums and five deer brought by the Indians.

Everything was washed down with a strong, sweet wine made from local grapes. It is a prob-that the settlers broke out some of their supply of "comfortable warm water," or gin, which undoubtedly contributed to the high attendance of Indians.

Considering it was the Indians who were largely responsible for the festival — it was their instruction as much as the Pilgrims' industry that caused the food surplus — it was the feast the Englishmen could have done.

The Indians were probably the reason for the entertainment, too, the display of arms being intended to convince them that, despite their numerical superiority, it was to their advantage to remain friendly.

Either the Indians were impressed or they had no hostile intentions anyway. During the next couple of years the Pilgrims had more trouble with Mother Nature than with the natives.

In fact, the second Thanksgiving observed in Plymouth was held to celebrate the simultaneous arrival of a rainstorm that ended a drought and saved the crops and a ship from Europe that brought much-needed provisions.

That was in July 1623, and it was marked — like other Pilgrim holidays — by long church services. It was a far more religious occasion than the first Thanksgiving, and it was also the last recorded day of thanksgiving in the colony for 10 years.

Following the celebration in 1633, the holiday was observed only four more times before Plymouth was absorbed into the larger Massachusetts Bay (Boston) settlement in 1692.

There are Biblical and historical precedents for both the festive and religious celebrations observed by the Pilgrims.

Virtually every ancient civilization — including the Egyptians, Hebrews, Greeks, Romans and Druids — marked the harvest with a festival. The idea of setting aside days for special prayers of thanks was nearly as universal.

England and Holland (from where the Pilgrims left for America) observed several such occasions in the late 16th Century to celebrate military victories, so the idea was certainly not new to the Mayflower families.

Indeed, the idea may not even have been new to America.

On December 3, 1619, the 47-ton ship Margaret landed at a site upriver from the Jamestown settlement in Virginia. Her passengers were 38 men who had been sent from England to colonize the area. Their charter gave explicit orders that the day of their arrival "shall be yearly and perpetually kept holy as a day of thanksgiving to Almighty God," and they obeyed with a feast.

Thankfully for us, only historians have to worry about who really had the first Thanksgiving. All we have to do is enjoy the day — and reach for the Alka Seltzer.

Memories of Yesterday

HOW DUXBURY HAS CHANGED

Since a historian spoke of "the good old days" in 3,000 B.C., we are not surprised to hear George Barrell complain in a book he wrote in 1880 about the Duxbury he knew as a boy having changed.

When he returned after a long absence he found none of his Duxbury playmates or schoolmates. He speaks nostalgically of his friend Captain Freeman Soule who had once said to him: "I have built a house at the head of the new lane, not far from the old doctor's. Come and visit us." (The old doctor was Dr. Allyn, principal of the nearby private schoolhouse now the property of the Franklin Hoyts of Fort Hill Lane.)

But we don't mind Barrell's complaints, as long as he gives us sidelights on olde Duxborough. He speaks of "chaise drives" from the Unitarian Church "just at the entrance of the woods" to the Tree of Knowledge "where we met the Boston and Plymouth stage with passengers. It was about three miles, through dense woods."

George wonders why it "was in such a forsaken place," or why the stages always met there at night. "I have ever thought that there was a sly satisfaction in the old Dominie to have us boys pass that graveyard at night, to knock out of us all the nonsense about being afraid in the dark."

If George were alive today he might be further astounded at some of the changes in Duxbury, right?

A TOWN CHARACTER

The streets were dusty and sandy. My mother used to say in her day the sand was so deep, it would follow the wheel around. In some places (the one I especially remember, was at the corner of Cedar and Cove Street) were little one-room houses where shoes were brought from the factories and finished and the leather trimmings were spread on the roads to help lay the dust. In this house in his later years Charles Soule, known as "Bidley." He was a character. He never washed, his hair was never brushed or combed and stood up all over his head; his clothes were ragged. He did mowing for people, and odd jobs. He was a brother I believe, of Capt. Simeon Soule, whose picture is on the wall here and who built the Chappa Challa house. Bidley had a dry wit. A Mrs. Caroline Bradford lived in the house opposite Miss Delano's, who had a tongue of her own. He was passing one day and she said: "You are a pretty looking object." Bidley stopped, made her a low bow, and said, "I'm sorry I can't say the same of you, niadam."

When he lived in the little house at the corner of Cedar and Cove, father and I used to walk past after getting our mail. He would be sitting in the doorway with a bowl of chowder on his knees, surrounded by cats and he would invite father for dinner. I suppose I was six years old. I was so afraid father would stop, that I would tug at his hand to go home. It never occurred to me that father would no more stop than I would.

Few Tourists Visit The Tomb Of The Captain Of The Mayflower

By RAYMOND R. COFFEY
Chicago Daily News Service

LONDON— Poor old Christopher Jones, captain of the Mayflower, which took the Pilgrims to Plymouth Rock, must be one of the most neglected figures in American history.

On any given day here thousands of Americans join the jam of tourists in front of Buckingham Palace. Thousands more endure long lines at the Tower of London for a look at the crown jewels, and still more thousands push and shove their way through the aisles of Westminster Abbey.

At the same time St. Mary's Church in Rotherhithe on the south bank of the Thames in the London borough of Southwark is almost always deserted.

Yet it was old St. Mary's to which Jones belonged as a member, where four of his children were baptized and where Jones himself was buried 350 years ago — only two years after his voyage with the Pilgrims.

The whole of Southwark, stretching along the south bank from the end of the new London Bridge, is in fact rich in historical associations for the Americans who mostly never go there.

In Southwark Cathedral just at the end of the bridge, for example, John Harvard, for whom Harvard University was named, was baptized on Nov. 29, 1607.

Unhappily Southwark is part of London's seedy, heavily bombed and increasingly abandoned dockland and all trace of the site of the Queen's Head Inn has disappeared.

Nearby, though, still stands the George Inn, London's only remaining galleried inn, which was immortalized by Charles Dickens in "Little Dorrit."

Also in Southwark is the site of the "The Clink" the prison in which several of the religious dissenters who inspired the Pilgrim fathers were jailed. The jail itself is gone now but the expression, "in the clink," remains a part of the language.

Other group of religious dissenters also left Southwark to go to America, and those members of their persecuted "Independent Church" who remained behind worshiped in a series of churches, the last of which was destroyed by German bombs in 1940.

The memory of those churches is now preserved in the "Pilgrim Fathers Memorial Church" on Dover Street in Southwark, which was dedicated in 1956 and which has a baptismal font made from a piece of Plymouth Rock.

Of all the American history at the south bank, though, perhaps the most interesting is the case of Capt. Christopher Jones.

It was not until 1904, nearly 300 years after the voyage of the Mayflower, that historians determined the identity of the ship's captain from Admiralty records and linked him definitely with St. Mary's Church and the seafaring community of Rotherhithe.

Jones was an experienced sea captain who had been not only master but one-fourth owner of the Mayflower since 1609. Three of the other owners were also buried at St. Mary's.

Rotherhithe was also the home of John Clarke, first mate of the Mayflower and the man for whom Clark's Island in Plymouth Bay, Mass., was named.

Because, after two false starts, the Mayflower finally set sail for America from the English port of Plymouth on Sept. 6, 1620, the voyage has always been associated with that city instead of Rotherhithe.

It wasn't until this century that the links with St. Mary's were pinned down — and not until 1965 that a plaque was finally placed in the church noting "The Mayflower. Christopher Jones, master and part owner, was buried in this churchyard, 5th March, 1622."

There still is not much known about Jones though some clues to his character can be found in accounts of the voyage by William Bradford, who became leader of the Pilgrims.

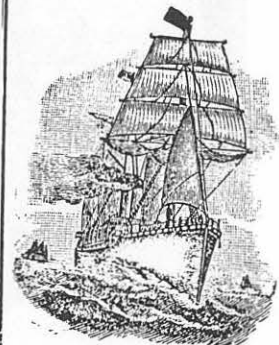

At one point Bradford noted that Jones exhibited "kindness and forwardness" and at another he notes that Jones went ashore in the new world one day and shot five geese, which he "friendly d'istributed among the sick people."

After Jones' death in 1622 the Mayflower was "valued" in 1624 to settle his estate and no one knows what became of the historic ship.

CHRISTOPHER JONES

How many people know the real Captain of the Mayflower?

Recently on a TV program this question was asked. A wrong answer was given and accepted.

"Build me straight, O worthy master,
Staunch and strong, a goodly vessel,
That shall laugh at all disaster,
And with wave and whirlwind wrestle."

Day by day the vessel grew,
With timbers fashioned strong and true,
Stemson and keelson and sternson-knee,
Till, framed with perfect symmetry.

All is finished! and at length
Has come the bridal day
Of beauty and of strength,
To-day the vessel shall be launched."

The Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, Dorothy F. W. Innes presents a reproduction of the sailing of the Mayflower to Dr. Richard Ahlborn of the Smithsonian.

grim mother was first off the ship back in 1620.

Still, Alderman Dorothy F. W. Innes, on a two-week visit to the United States for the 350th anniversary celebration of the Pilgrim's landing and the first Thanksgiving, couldn't resist striking a blow for womankind.

"Lord Caradon (Britain's UN representative) said we always speak of the Pilgrim fathers and all they endured," she chuckled, "but that we must remember the Pilgrim mothers endured the Pilgrim fathers."

Symbol

Wearing a long green velvet gown spectacularly adorned with the 168-year-old symbol of her office, the Lord Mayor's solid gold chain insured for $24,000, the slender, amiable grandmother of three was honor guest last night at a reception in the Smithsonian's Museum of History and Technology.

Accompanying her was Sergeant-at-Mace Cyril Kane who, in addition to carrying the small silver mace of his own office, is keeper of the Lord Mayor's chain.

"I sleep on it," he confessed, visibly relieved that that aspect of his responsibilities, at least, will be over when they return to England today.

Hosts at the party were presidential appointees to the Plymouth-Provincetown Celebration Commission, created by an act of Congress which also appropriated $100,000 to, as Chairman George C. P. Olsson of Plymouth, Mass., put it, "tell the story" of the Pilgrims' contributions to history, culture, law and commerce.

Surplus

Not all of the $100,000 has been spent, according to Olsson.

"I think we'll end up with a surplus, something to return to the Treasury. None of the commission took per diem," he said, declining to mention a

Rep. Louise Day Hicks, D-Mass., thinks it may have been "ladies first" when the Mayflower landed at Plymouth Rock because "only a woman would have had the daring."

But the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, only the second woman in nearly 500 years to hold that office and a feminist "up to a point," thinks it unlikely that a Pil-

Last night's party was the closing chapter to the Pilgrims' story, with the emphasis on 20th-century adaptations of 17th-century music, food and beverages.

"So you're a Pilgrim," one unconvinced guest teased a costumed waiter who, after considerable translation from Spanish to French to English, had identified the fish in the codfish balls as a giant goldfish.

"Oui," shrugged the unlikely Pilgrim, "un pelerin."

A lavish groaning board, heaped high with roast turkey, baked ham, scallops, corn muffins, corn relish and pumpkin and cranberry tarts, and several gallons of beer and rum and cider punch awaited some 500 invited guests from The Hill, the Supreme Court and the White House.

Tardy

No more than 125, however, many of them from congressional offices, nibbled or sipped at any one time in the Museum's second-floor wing known as "Crowth of the United States, 1640-1750," or, as Smithsonian employees call it, "GUS (pronounced "goose") Hall."

Arriving late from House voting on the campaign reform bill were Mrs. Hicks and Rep. Hastings Keith, R-Mass., one of eight members of Congress on the presidential commission.

While not the only person there who could boast of a Mayflower ancestor, Keith, in whose district Plymouth lies, may have been the only descendant of John Alden and Priscilla Mullins.

He modestly brushed off the distinction, however, with the magnanimous speculation that "I feel practically everybody in America can trace his roots to the Mayflower."

Plymouth and the Pilgrims

By Jeannette Smyth

Three hundred and fifty years ago this month, the founding fathers at Plymouth, Mass., were grateful for their first scanty harvest, and celebrated it with a festival like the ones they'd had back home in Plymouth, England.

Last night at the Smithsonian's Museum of History and Technology, everything was set for an anniversary celebration to commemorate that first harvest, and to recall that the concept of the Thanksgiving festival as well as the Pilgrims had come from Plymouth, England. The lord mayor of Plymouth, England, was there, bidding farewell after a two-week stay in America; the chairman of the presidential commission appointed to celebrate the anniversary was there, too.

The Massachusetts congressional delegation had been invited, and to show how long a way we've come, there was an enormous, luxurious, quasi-colorful buffet of food and drink.

Few congressmen attended. The House discussed the campaign spending bill and the Senate worried about Sen. Proxmire's amendment to the economic stabilization program until well past the dinner hour.

But because the lord mayor of Plymouth, England, is a suave woman "of a certain age," a professional politician of 22 years' experience, because, perhaps, she wore an emerald velvet evening dress with the centuries-old gold chain and medallion which is the insignia of her office, everyone hung on her every word.

"How poised she is," they all said, and would probably not have noticed if Miles Standish himself had walked in.

Lord Mayor Dorothy Innis was accompanied by her sergeant-of-the-mace, Cyril Kane.

"He comes with me on official trips," said she. Instead of a silver mace, Cyril Kane wore an impressive head of silver hair and carried a large black suitcase which contained the lord mayor's robes. She did not put them on.

"I am lord mayor for one year only. Lord mayor, not 'mayor,' because Plymouth has a royal charter. I was chosen by the 84-member city council of which I've been a member for 22 years."

In the two weeks she's been here, the slender widow has been entertained with a turkey dinner, and a clambake. She's made radio and television appearances, visited New York and Philadelphia and the Boston home of George C. P. Olsson, chairman of the Plymouth-Provincetown Celebration Commission. Yesterday she visited the Capitol and had a talk with Housing and Urban Development Secretary George Romney.

"I was chairman of housing in Plymouth for four years," Mrs. Innis said. "We had a good chat about housing. How much we can learn from each other!"

As a costumed group from the Dupont Circle Consortium played music on recorders, the lord mayor moved off to present a print of the Mayflower's leaving her Plymouth, and a Royal Worcester bibelot to Richard Ahlborn, who accepted on behalf of Smithsonian Institution Secretary Dillon S. Ripley.

Rep. Louise Day Hicks (D-Mass.) arrived, having managed to vote for the limitations on campaign spending, and disentangle herself from further House discussion.

The lord mayor was saying that while she's not a fervid women's liberationist, "I am up to a point. We've had the opportunities if we wish to use them."

"Last May — we always celebrate the departure of the Mayflower in May — we had Lord Carridine to speak at the ceremonies.

"He said 'There's something we always forget with regard to the Pilgrim fathers. We always go on about how they had to endure this, and they had to endure that, but what about the Pilgrim mothers?'

"They had to endure the Pilgrim fathers," the lord mayor recalled with a twinkle.

The Trade In Coats Of Arms

By Henry Gilgoff

King Arthur sends his regrets. He won't be able to attend the presentation, but you still can have a coat of arms without the frills of royalty.

In England, they're still a bit stuffy about the whole matter. You really have to deserve a coat of arms, recognized by the College of Arms in London, to do whatever one does with a coat of arms. Harold Hazelton, librarian for the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society in Manhattan, said, "In England, you own the right to a coat of arms just as you own a piece of property. If you use it and have no right to it, the person who actually owns it can sue you."

But in America, we are much more democratic. You don't have to be entitled to a coat of arms to have this ego booster, you just have to have the money to buy one. You can even purchase one by mail.

Cadlyn's, 2077 New York Ave, Huntington Station, N.Y., is one of the mail order firms that deals in coats of arms. Ralph E. Pearson of Austin, Texas, wrote a letter to Newsday criticizing Cadlyn's: "I think your (Cadlyn's) advertising is misleading to uninformed persons and that you cannot trace my life to a person to whom arms were awarded, through the male line."

Pearson, interviewed by telephone, said that he is a genealogist. Pearson has long objected to advertising by mail order firms that sell coats of arms. In Cadlyn's case, Pearson, a retired Army colonel, was objecting to an advertisement that he said appeared in Family Weekly Jan. 9.

Pearson said he considers the advertising misleading because some consumers may think the company is tracing the family back to determine whether a coat of arms actually is deserved. But Cadlyn's president, Daniel Cain, said that his company's coats of arms are bought for decorative purposes, and he noted that the advertisement criticized by Pearson states: "no genealogical representations intended or implied."

"We're not out to deceive anyone," Cain said. At his office last week he explained how his staff turns out their articles and oddities. When an order comes into the company, sometimes it gives only the customer's name, address and last-known country of origin. In that case, the staff looks up the name in one of several reference books. The name or some derivation of it may be in the book along with a coat of arms — in fact, there may be many. "There are 88 for the name, Ward" in one of the books, Cain said. The first listing determines which coat you receive unless you send more specific information.

Cadlyn's has a form that includes a small shield that is then painted by one of the staff artists using one of the books as the guide. The coat of arms you receive from Cadlyn's should be one associated by the books with your family name. It is not necessarily one that your particular branch of the family has any claim to.

Customers who know what their coats of arms should look like sometimes complain about the merchandise sent by mail-order firms. For instance, a Monro who knows that he is a descendant of Monro of Coull may send an order without disclosing his knowledge and wind up with a coat of arms for a different Monro.

When a complaint about such an error is received, the companies point to the disclaimer about no genealogical representations—if they have put that qualifier in their advertisements. Donald Silverstein, president of Heraldic Archives

International of Hicksville, N.Y., said that his firm deals in coats of arms through wholesalers and uses the disclaimer in all its dealings. Roy Pope, a Federal Trade Commission attorney, said the commission studied businesses selling coats of arms about 10 years ago but issued no rules.

Prices for coats of arms vary. At Cadlyn's, a coat of arms on a paper form costs $2.98. A coat mounted on a 14-by-11-inch piece of wood costs $19.95. Neither price includes mailing charges. To hire a genealogist to trace your family history can be expensive and doing it your self at the library is quite time-consuming and complex. You can, however, check what coats of arms are associated with your family name if you have access to a library with a good collection of books on heraldry.

Sometime ago the following item was sent to: Dear Abby: "This is for the person who never misses a chance to brag about his ancestors. If he goes back to his great - great - grandfather, ask him if he knows the other seven. "Then remind him that there is as much in his blood from each of these 15 people as there is from the one he boasts of;

not more than seven per cent of his heritage can be from any one of them. "If he is so foolish as to go back to his great-great-great there are 32 people involved, and if he goes back to the Mayflower, if that lineup didn't include some bums or horse thieves, his case would be the exception.

"Honor thy father and thy mother." But it's risky to go very far beyond them."

signed: "Another Mongrel"

Editor's note:

I wouldn't go so far as agreeing with "the mongrel" about the risk of finding our ancestors but I do agree there are many, many of them.

I for one, have researched and found many of them and mostly I can say, "They were certainly leaders of truth and love and someone to be so proud to claim."

If we but read our Bible we find many times our forefathers are mentioned. Sometimes with favor and sometimes not. Our ancestors do relate back to them.

Let us be proud of our heritage and live by and for the good of our fellowmen.

Heraldry Is Everywhere

The American Flag Is a 'Distinctive' Example

By JOY BILLINGTON

Star Staff Writer

A tabard like this, embroidered with the red and gold lions of England, would cost York Herald about $2,000. "My working clothes," he quips of the photograph.

"You know the Americans are a very heraldically-minded nation," says York Herald, sipping his sherry, which he managed to get dry, without ice and without chill.

"As you travel, even in the poorest areas you will find a piece of heraldry floating around which can be described as goulds with six barrulets argent on a canton azure with 50 mullets also.

"It is more commonly known as the Stars and Stripes.

"It's marvelously distinctive. I'm so delighted to see it being used everywhere — speaking from a heraldic point of view."

This wry, dry Wodehousian wit is delivered in the experienced communicative manner of a man used to being asked wide-eyed questions.

Broad Look

Taking a broad look at heraldry, during an interview he mentioned the various European countries and former British colonies that have colleges of arms.

"It's not confined to the western world, you know. There's a great interest in heraldry behind the iron curtain, although we consider the Soviets a bit decadent. They are at the stage we were in at the time of Nelson — the picture postcard stage."

York Herald of Arms has been visiting America annually, often bi-annually, since 1964. Since the Queen only pays him and his 12 peers of the College the medieval wage of 17 pounds 10 shillings (about $35) a year, one might say that the job is largely honorary, and money to live with the grace that a member of the sovereign household might require — must come from other sources.

Beyond that, he says "you get paid for the various pieces of work you undertake. Some members of the College don't do much work. Others do. It's a very unusual and antique method, but it works quite well."

Consequently, "Mr. York" lectures all over, wherever there are pockets of people interested in arms, heritage, history and heraldry.

Squeezing his lecture to the "Colonial Dames of the 17th Century" in between visits to Canada and Ecuador, he was the highlight of a four-day agenda at the 48th annual conference of the Dames.

York Herald swooped down on a brief archangel visit, kindly and dignified, from the 'holy of holies' where men with titles established in the 12th, 13th and 14th centuries investigate other people's claims to coats of arms.

York, who used to be "Rouge Dragon Pursuivant of Arms," was promoted in 1968. There are four pursuivants, six Heralds and three Kings in the College. "If you live long enough you might become a king. And of course the whole thing is rather dependent on good behavior..."

York, or Dr. Swan, is a Canadian. He hasn't a trace of a Canadian accent, and speaks in what used to be known as 'an Oxford accent,' as is found in a certain stratas of Australian, Canadian, Indian and South Africa society.

He is ex-Indian Army, with a PhD. from Cambridge.

He is married to a daughter of the Earl of Iddesleigh, and "when I last looked, there were five children in the nursery," at his Suffolk home.

There is no evident erosion of interest in genealogy and heraldry in the British socialist welfare state, the Herald says.

Every year, the Queen's honors list creates new peers, and even the footballer of the civil servant who gets an humble OBE (Order of the British Empire) or the ballerina who becomes a Dame is entitled to a newly created coat of arms.

When Sir Winston Churchill became a Knight of the Garter (a very rare and distinguished honor), the College of Arms created new arms for him.

The College of Arms specifies rather grandly, lest anyone should think different, that:

"Further, it should be mentioned, that anyone in the world, no matter his citizenship, ethnic origin or religion can arrange to submit his family genealogy, be it long or short, for registration at the College of Arms. If the supporting evidences are found acceptable by the official genealogical Examiners, then the pedigree will be officially recorded."

Indian Chief

A famous case is that of the Mohawk chief, Joseph Brant, who registered his pedigree with the College after leading his tribe to upper Canada (Brantford, Ont.) in support of King George III during the American Revolution.

Registrations began to filter back to the College of Arms soon after the founding of Jamestown, Va. in 1607. "Some of them were armigerous before they left England," he explains, using a word from the latin root 'armiga' or armor bearer.

"Arms were—are still—like property or real estate. You either do or do not have a good claim to them.

"Arms belong to the family, not to the name. You can change your name twice a week and three times on Sunday, if you care to, but it won't affect your arms.

"People overseas like to continue their registration, to insure the continuity over the years. At the time leading up to and after the American Revolution, the "patriots" didn't bother for a while, and the flood of inquiries from America stopped.

"But about 15 years after the Revolution even George Washington himself was in correspondence with us. And it has never stopped since."

There is some nefarious dealing in arms here, the York Herald says, and he is not speaking about the military.

The fact that America has no college of arms and no official registrar of arms for private persons "opens the floodgates of chaos" here among those "commercial concerns that are not too scrupulous and say, 'send us your name and we'll send back your arms by return mail.'"

As a last word to confound those who say the 'special relationship' between America and Britain is dead, this Sherlock Holmes of the bloodlines tosses in:

"You know, her present Majesty is one of the nearest collateral descendants of George Washington. It comes through a certain Margaret Rheade, one of the greatest gateways of American genealogy. She was the wife of a speaker of the Virginia House of Burgesses and a common ancestress of George Washington, Robert E. Lee and her present Majesty.

"Margaret Reade is the grand central station of American genealogy. Her ancestry goes back through Edward II into several great families. If you can get to her, you're home and dry."

THE READING MASS. CHRONICLE
Thursday, January 11, 1973

"Little more weight and a little work and we'll make you a running back." Whatever the conversation, this lab skeleton and Coach Paul Soule, who is also a biology teacher, get along well. Coach Soule is a varsity backfield coach during football season and Reading High's winter track coach.

DARTMOUTH ALUMNI MAGAZINE

PARKER F. SOULE JR. '31, Associate in the Office of Development, retires this year after ten years in the College administration. He had also been with the College in the early '40s, as business manager of the Alumni Magazine and as an associate in the Alumni Fund Office. Earlier he had been associated with the Hanover Gazette and the Hanover Inn before moving to New Mexico on a research assignment for the United States Government.

For most of his career before returning to the College in 1962, Mr. Soule was in the publishing field: with the Boston Herald Traveler soon after graduation, with the Curtis Publishing Company in Philadelphia from 1944 to 1956, and as manager of the Subscription Department of the Farm Journal from 1956 to 1961.

Mr. Soule has served the College and his Class in many areas of alumni affairs in the years away from Hanover as well as in professional capacities. He was a member of the executive committee of the Boston Alumni Association from 1932 to 1935 and president of the Dartmouth Club of Philadelphia from 1950 to 1952. He was for many years an assistant class agent and chairman of several interviewing committees. He was first secretary of the newly organized Class Treasurers Association in 1941-42 and is currently a member of the executive committee of the Class of 1931. He is a past president and director of Phi Kappa Psi corporation.

Born in Cambridge, Mass., Mr. Soule prepared for Dartmouth at The New Preparatory School, where he taught and coached for a year after graduating from college.

In 1931's 31-year report, Mr. Soule replied to a question about hobbies: "I read a little, paint a little, and with Helen enjoy the Philadelphia Orchestra and the theater. We don't neglect sports as spectators, either—especially Dartmouth teams."

With the easy substitution of Hopkins Center music for the Philadelphia Orchestra, his compendium of avocations in 1962 reads like a prescription for the ideal Hanover retirement.

Begin Study At Amherst

Two Andover young men are among 315 students who began classes at Amherst College this week after four days of orientation sessions.

Walter Leo Maroney, son of Mrs. Nora Lorigan Maroney of 26 Summer St. and of Walter L. Maroney of 52 Wildwood Road, graduated cum laude in the 1972 Class of Phillips Academy, where he received special prizes in Latin and served on the staff of the literary magazine.

Robert Ragle Soule, also from Andover and a graduate of Phillips Academy, participated in soccer, hockey, crew and tennis. His parents are Dr. and Mrs.

Francis Gordon Soule of 5 Timothy Drive.

The Class of 1976 at Amherst includes representatives of 42 states and nine foreign countries. Three fifths of these freshmen graduated from public high schools and the remaining forty percent from independent secondary schools.

Salem, N.H.

Soule supports money return to school districts

SALEM, N.H. — Speaking at a campaign reception held for him at the home of Thomas Cross of Atkinson this week, Atty. Lewis F. Soule of Salem, Republican candidate for state senator, reiterated his support for a proposed special session of the legislature to deal exclusively with paying $3 million owed to New Hampshire school districts.

Soule noted that his Democratic opponent, Senator Delbert F. Downing, "has called my action irresponsible and uninformed."

"The New Hampshire School Boards' Association, virtually unanimously, voted there should be such a session," Soule told the Atkinson residents. "The New Hampshire Administrators' Association, comprised of school district superintendents, assistant superintendents, and business administrators, voted unanimously to call for such a session."

"I assume," Soule continued, "that these organizations are also irresponsible and uninformed."

The simple fact, Soule told his audience, that the two organizations and others, including himself, want the towns to get the money to which they are entitled.

He pointed out that the State of New Hampshire is 50th in the nation in state financial aid to local schools and that this is so when the state pays the money it is statutorily obligated to pay.

"Now," Soule said, "on top of that the towns are being short-changed an additional $3 million."

The candidate said it is a known fact that the state has the money and that the towns are entitled to it and that it would mean local tax relief.

He predicted that if a special session devoted exclusively to payment of the education funds to the towns the matter will be put over to the 1973 legislative session and at that time other demands will be made on the money.

LEWIS F. SOULE

... Calls for session

He said the cost of a limited special session would be minor and that he believes that responsible legislators could ensure that the session would be limited to the sole matter of allocating some of the surplus funds to the under-funded local school districts.

Downing downs Soule by 762

SALEM, N.H. — Democrat Delbert Downing held onto his seat in the state senate in yesterday's election and for this he can thank the voters of Salem and Pelham.

Atty. Lewis F. Soule, Salem born and bred and a graduate of Harvard Law School, was defeated in his try for Downing's seat and for this he can thank the voters of Salem and Pelham.

Downing won re-election as senator in the 22nd District by a margin of 762 votes. The total vote in the district was Downing, 7,084; Soule, 6,322.

Downing lost to Soule in Windham and Atkinson but he carried Salem with a 1,342 majority and Pelham with a 202 majority.

It was more than enough to make up for Soule's victories in Windham where he garnered 914 votes to Downing's 538, and in Atkinson where the Soule vote was 750 and the Downing vote was 344.

The Salem vote in the senatorial contest was: Downing, 4,900; Soule, 3,558. In Pelham it was Downing, 1,302; Soule, 1,100.

Mr. Hugh Jackson
RR-1 Stroud, Ontario

16 January 1973

Dear Mr. Jackson:

SOULE Family No. 52331

We have your letter of 8 December 1972 concerning the proposed Historical Plaque to be erected by the Innisfil Historical Society remembering James Soule and David Soule, the second settlers of the Township of Innisfil. You state that you have some facts on their lives but need the complete history of both these men.

We enclose three form letters telling about SOULE KINDRED and our current problems along with our "rules" dictated by our current situation and priorities. However, we do consider your query as out of the ordinary and will outline briefly what we have appearing to bear on your problem.

DANIEL⁵ SOULE/SOULES was born 13 April 1724 at Dartmouth, MA., the son of George⁴ & Lydia (Howland) Soule with descent thru William³. George² from George¹ Soule of the Mayflower. He appears in Dutchess County, NY on 6 Aug 1744 when he recorded his "ear marke" (to identify his cattle) per Dutchess County Historical Society Collections 7:11. He married in Dutchess County (place and date unknown) probably in the late 1750s, ^{Shen} the totally unreliable Ridlon's Soule Genealogy states that they had three sons Daniel, Michael and David. The father of this family was a Loyalist and supported the Crown during the Revolution, perhaps even serving with the British armed forces. As a result of this he is reputed to have lost his property in Dutchess County and fled with his family to Nova Scotia in 1783 where he is reported to have died.

DANIEL⁶ SOULE/SOULES, son of Daniel⁵ & Hannah (Sherman) Soule, was born at Nine Partners, Dutchess County, NY in 1760 (exact date not known) and died at Thornhill, Ontario on 10 Apr 1846 ae 86. He was married, probably at Digby, Nova Scotia and likely in the early 1780's to ACHSAH ELIZABETH HOLLINGSHEAD, daughter of Anthony Hollingshead, born in Pennsylvania on 24 Mar 1770 and died at Stroud, Ontario on 10 Apr 1862 ae 92 yrs 17 days. Their children were as follows:

i. Hannah ⁷ Soule/Soules	b. Digby, Nova Scotia	in	1784
ii. John Benjamin Soule/Soules	b. do		178?
iii. Elizabeth Soule/Soules	b. do		178?
iv. William Soule/Soules	b. do	19 Jan	1792*
v. Thomas Soule/Soules	b. do	do	*
*Twins
vi. David Soule/Soules	b. do	18 Jun	1795
vii. James Soule/Soules	b. ?	Ontario	14 Aug 1797
viii. Sarah "Sally" Soule/Soules	b. ?	Ontario	?

 We suspect that these two men were the subject of your inquiry. If so, we will be glad to furnish upon request and at cost the rather extensive information appearing in Ridlon concerning these two and their families. In return we would expect any corrections or additions which you may have gathered. While we are not, of course, particularly proud of nor do we have too much confidence in the material compiled by the late Gideon T. Ridlon, his work appears to be the most comprehensive available to us on these two men and their families.

x. Daniel Soule/Soules	b. ?	Ontario	?

We hope that we have been helpful.

Faithfully yours,

PRESIDENT'S CORNER:

Duxbury, Mass. 02332

First, I want to thank all those who sent Christmas greetings to me and the other officers. With over 400 families now in our kindred association, it becomes impossible to acknowledge all of them but we appreciate the thoughtfulness of our members.

Second, we have now received a charter in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, through the courtesy of Atty. Lewis F. Soule. We are now chartered in two states, Massachusetts and Texas.

Financial problems do exist now in our Soule Kindred. Increased printing and mailing costs for 1972 used our entire 1972 income. All of us need to help if Soule Kindred is to stay afloat and you can help by:

- 1) Obtaining one or more new memberships for us
- 2) Becoming a sustaining Soule member (which means contributing $10.00 instead of the regular $5.00.)
- 3) By including Soule Kindred in America, Inc. in your will.

I ask each of you to remember that Soule Kindred is only what you make of it - no more, no less.

Our 1973 Soule Kindred Reunion in San Antonio, Texas is set for the 29 & 30th of June and 1st of July. The plans our reunion committee are making under the able leadership of cousin Betty Harris sound fantastic...a brunch 620 feet in the clouds in the World's Fair revolving Tower of Americas, live Indians, Pilgrims at the Alamo, and what really amazes me is that some of her committee are going hunting and will kill wild turkey and deer for a big kindred Texas style barbecue - (they already have some in the freezer as of this date) - a real THANKSGIVING - in July! PLAN TO ATTEND and bring your whole family. Many Soule children will attend this year.

Our family historian, Col. John Soule, continues to improve in health and he thanks all of you for your good wishes and prayers. The back-log of letters and paper work is tremendous however, and unfortunately since we are a new (1967) kindred group, we have no endowment or funds with which we could hire secretarial help or other conveniences which would speed things up. Our secretary has prepared a form letter and we have asked another volunteer to be an assistant historian. Since our assistant historian, Howard A. Thomas, lives in New York, and has no access to the records in Washington D.C., we hope to get a microfilm of the bulk of the family data files from Col. Soule which will allow Mr. Thomas access to answers for some inquiries.

Yours truly,

George Soule

QUERIES AND ANSWER SECTION

Mrs. K. D. Spaulding
R.1, Box 433
Chesterton, Indiana 46304

Has anyone information on Margaret Soule who married Caleb Hicks? I think they are the parents of Gula Elma (Hicks) Fancher. I have an ancestor in Onondago Co., N.Y. between 1836-1900. They are Jonathan Waterbury and Gula Elma (Hicks) Fancher and their 10 children supposedly lived in or around Cicera.

Jay M. Balfour

Hillsboro, Oregon 97125

He would like some information about Moses Soule, an old professor, who was one of William Balfour's good friends.

William Balfour is grandfather of Mr. Jay M. Balfour.

This William Balfour used to send this Moses Soule a barrel of apples each fall, and this would have been prior to 1869, when he was tutored by Professor Soule.

Jay M. Balfour sent several letters written by Moses Soule to his grandfather. They are wonderful letters and he would like to know some more about this wonderful old Professor.

Please write to him any information you may have about Moses Soule and I, Mary Crismore (editor) would like a carbon copy also, to use in a feature story later in the newsletter.

HELP WANTED

R. P. Nichols
Lincoln Tower Apt., 520 S. Second St.
Apt. 1705, Springfield, Illinois 62701

I am trying to locate information on one of my wife's ancestors. Here is what we know about them:

Our "missing man" is named George Soule, married Harriet Kelly in Wardsboro, Vt., on February 24, 1823.

One son, Elvirus (my wife's great-grandfather) was born in New York State 1830. The family moved to California during the late 1840's.

They also had a son, Eugene, who was an instructor in Manul Training at Stanford University, Palo Alto, California from 1894 to 1905 (their personal records were later destroyed in a fire). A picture we have of Eugene and Rose Soule, presumably his daughter, dated 1889.

We believe George's wife, Harriet, died in 1861 and was buried at Honey Creek, Wis., and believe that George later married Priscilla Plimpton. Listed in the Wis. census in 1870, but not in 1880. we are unable to locate any data of his death.

Ridlon (page 844) says that George was a son of Recompense Soule, and was born in Blenheim, N.Y.; later lived in Prattville and Hunter in New York. Lineage given in same book as Recompense⁵, William⁴, Sylvanus³, Nathaniel², and George¹ Soule.

Any help would be greatly appreciated.

INFORMATION CONCERNING SOULE ANCESTORS

We are flattered at the large number of queries received regarding individuals named Soule/Sowle or other variant. Unfortunately, the many unanswered letters now awaiting our attention testify to the embarrassing demand on our time and financial resources which cannot be met. To solve both problems:

- (1) Detailed answers are limited to paid-up members of SOULE KINDRED, our family association. Minimum dues are $5.00 per year. In addition to collected family records, this includes copies of all current calendar year issues of the quarterly SOULE NEWSLETTER.
- (2) We cannot undertake any major additional research from outside sources at this time. Neither are we able to furnish information now in our files, but hope to be able to resume in 1973, at a date to be determined. In general, our records include:
 - (a) The nearly completed Five Generation Project - a genealogy of all descendants of George Soule of the Mayflower for five generations. Most of these twelve hundred or more people were born earlier than 1760. These records are indexed both geographically and by non-Soule surnames. This is scheduled to be available in book form during 1973. Consequently, we urge that inquirers interested in this area await publication of this book.
 - (b) A card file of over 15,000 records on individuals named Soule collected from Ridlon's 1926 "Soule Genealogy" (replete with errors), military service records and pension files, census returns, published genealogies of other families, DAR bible and cemetery records plus various town, county and state records as well as contributed family data. Some cards are very sketchy; others are quite complete. Cards are filed alphabetically by given names and chronologically by birth year. Only a very few non-Soule surnames have been indexed and geographical cross-reference is achieved solely through lists of census returns which have been searched and some of the transcribed vital records.
 - (c) Several thousand family data sheets compiled from available verified information in form for possible ultimate compilation of a new Soule Genealogy. Many of these cover the Five Generation Project.
 - (d) Published Soule Newsletters (20 quarterly issues through October 1971). These contain factual information on the family as it is today and as it was in past years. Newsletters are fully indexed in each January issue for the prior year.
- (3) In order to meet our annual outlay for postage, reproduction, supplies and other direct purposes (no fee or other charge for our work), we have found it essential to establish a schedule of charges (applicable to all dues-paying members of SOULE KINDRED):
 - (a) Back issues of SOULE NEWSLETTER $1.25 per copy

- (b) Copies of all papers pertinent to one line of descent from George Soule of the Mayflower to any one individual in the 5th Generation $3.00 per set
- (c) Investigation, report and recommendations for further research if necessary on any one person named Soule (or variant) or one Soule couple concerning whom we are given sufficient information (preferably typed) concerning names, dates and place to assure reasonable prospects of identification from our records $5.00 each
- (d) Photocopy of 1880 Census (Soundex) enumeration of any one Soule family $10.00 each
- (e) Provide data on all persons named Soule from any one county in any state for any U.S. Census return:
- i. 1790 Census $2.00 each
 - ii. 1800 to 1840 if in our files $5.00 each
 - iii. 1800 to 1840 obtained from Nat'l Archives . $10.00 each
 - iv. 1850 to 1880 if in our files (not many). . $10.00 each
 - v. 1850 to 1880 obtained from Nat'l Archives . $25.00 each
- (Does not apply to any large city!)
- (f) Prepare a comprehensive lineage with full documentation (if necessary data is on hand or readily available) from a minimum of $10.00 to a maximum of $30.00 depending on number of pages and special documentation necessary.
- (4) Check or money order is to be payable to SOULE KINDRED and sent to P.O. Box 1146, Duxbury, Massachusetts 02332 with detailed instructions.

For reasons indicated above, we are unable to offer hope that a final answer can be given in 1972. Hopefully, mid-1973 should see the present situation under better control. Orders from SOULE KINDRED members accompanied by the prescribed fee will be registered and assigned a priority number and all inquiries practicable will be answered in order of priority numbers. Fees will be deposited in a special account and will be refunded in January 1974 if no action is taken on inquiries by 31 December 1973.

Soule Kindred

P. O. Box 1146
Duxbury, Mass. 02332

Dear Cousin:

Your inquiry, the suggestion of one of your relatives or that of another SOULE KINDRED member, indicates that you are or should be interested in the news and history of the Soule-Sowle-Soles families and your family association.

The activities of SOULE KINDRED are many and varied. The promotion of goodwill and fellowship between members of the family is rewarding. A nation-wide Reunion in Plymouth, Massachusetts in September 1969 was attended by 87 cousins. There were 112 registered in 1970! Smaller localized reunions have enjoyed outstanding success for many years.

Perhaps even more important is the collection, verification, recording and dissemination of historical, biographical and genealogical data on all members of the family. We now have records on perhaps 20,000 individuals collected by ourselves and others over many years past. These include the 83 who served in the American Revolution, the 129 heads of families enumerated in the first United States Census in 1790, 122 in the War of 1812, 554 serving both the Union and the Confederacy in the Civil War and 3809 individuals enumerated in the 1880 Census - the latest one on which records are open to the public. We need and want all information available to you on dates and places of birth, marriage and death (place of residence if living) of all persons named Soule, Sowle or other variant. Forms to help present this information will be supplied on request. Especially welcome are copies of family bibles, old newspaper clippings (and current ones too), diaries, interesting or informative letters, and cemetery inscriptions.

SOULE NEWSLETTER, your quarterly family magazine, has been published regularly since January 1967. Each issue now averages more than 50 pages of family news and history. Over 400 copies go to our members and other subscribers every three months.

Please do join your non-profit family association. Nominal dues are $5.00 per calendar year but membership is gratis to those interested but really unable to pay. On the other hand, we ask $10.00 per year or more from those who can afford this amount and are willing to share the spiralling cost of continuing a top-flight family magazine and keeping SOULE KINDRED the finest possible association of its kind.

EXCERPTS from a letter to me, your editor, about our 5 Generation Project:-
From: Col. John Soule December 1972

"The need for completing our 5 Generation Project has become of utmost urgency. As most of you know over a period of 10 months I have spent 111 days as a hospital patient.....I now walk with a cane and must continue daily the therapy treatments. I find my 60 to 80 hours per week work greatly diminished....."

"I was honored by a visit from the Project Editor in November 1972. We had lengthy discussions concerning the project in general and the Soule portion in particular... Volume I of MAYFLOWER FAMILIES THROUGH FIVE GENERATIONS is expected to go to press early in 1973. It will contain the families of Francis Eaton, Edward Fuller, Samuel Fuller, Thomas Rogers and William White. The descendants of George Soule are tentatively scheduled for Volume III along with two other large families..... Needed by end of 1973. Continued work of New Jersey descendants is in progress, and the descendants of Elizabeth² Soule and Francis Walker were early migrants to that state...."

"Avoiding duplicated efforts is important.....Clarifying references must be done.... Every bit of data is to be supported by Town records, Wills, Deeds, Vital Statistics, etc....Old Mayflower accepted papers that were burned or destroyed should be found and restored....Libraries searched and researched....Resolving some New York state problems is in progress....Financing our efforts is another problem....."

All SOULE KINDRED are most welcome to assist in any the above named ways and may help and keep in touch with any the SOULE KINDRED officers. Col. John Soule is our Historian, Mr. Howard Thomas is Asst. Historian and myself as Editor will be happy to have information sent to us that we may help with the progress of this project.

The names and addresses of these three will be found on Page 133 of our last issue of SOULE KINDRED NEWSLETTER, dated October 1972.

SOULE KINDRED IN AMERICA, INC.

BETTY-JEAN HANER - TREASURER

1491 MC CLELLAN STREET

SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK 12309

December 4, 1972

Dear Soule Kindred Family:

1972 has been, once again, a busy one for the officers of the SOULE KINDRED. This may not seem evident to you as we have been late in the publishing of the NEWSLETTER but this has been occasioned by a change in Printers, a change in position by our Editor and a variety of minor problems throughout the year.

However there have been some good things happening in SOULE KINDRED. We again had a most enjoyable and successful Reunion in Plymouth, Massachusetts, September 9th, preceding the General Society of Mayflower Descendants Triennial. Ninety-two members and friends attended our Reunion. Of special note and without doubt the highlight was the accepting of our Charter presented by our President, Mr. W. Fred Soules. Many hours and much work preceded our incorporation so that we are now officially known as "SOULE KINDRED OF AMERICA, INC."

The George Soule Memorial Gravestone which we placed last year was, of course, paid for out of our general funds. We would like to replace these funds so they could be used for another worthwhile purpose. We are asking that any who would like to make a contribution to the Memorial Stone Fund do so when they pay their dues or at another time convenient to you. The Stone cost $597.40, and we have collected $286.00 for this purpose to date.

This year, we would like to tabulate the number of Soule Kindred that our NEWSLETTER reaches, instead of merely having a count on the number of families. For this reason, we ask that you fill out the reverse side of the enclosed membership card. Anyone that reads your NEWSLETTER, even if not living at the same address, should be listed. Small children should also be listed even if they do not read; they are still Soule Kindred.

Please write any suggestions, news items, etc. to us...and be sure to give dates with any news item. A good way to send news clippings is to attach the top of the paper with its name and date. A data sheet is enclosed for you to send in milestone statistics with. We would especially appreciate having you report any births, marriages, or deaths in your family during 1971 or 1972.

We seek new members and urge you to send the enclosed form letter on to a relative who is not presently a Soule Kindred member. A place is left at the bottom for you to sign it. Additional copies of this form letter are available for the asking if you wish to send more out.

As your treasurer, it is my responsibility to remind all members that dues of $5.00 are payable as of January 1973, which includes a subscription to the SOULE NEWSLETTER. Some dues have already been received. We are ever grateful to those of you whose generosity in sending LARGER or EXTRA contributions in the past has helped us over some lean spots. This has also made it possible to send gratis subscriptions to those who definitely could not afford to pay.

MAY I ASK ALL OF YOU to return the card enclosed with this letter, properly checked to:

Miss Betty-Jean Haner, Treasurer
SOULE KINDRED

Sincerely,

Betty Jean Haner
