EDITOR'S CORNER:

First: - Our President, Kenneth Tiffin, called in his report for this April issue of the Soule Kindred Newsletter. He has been quite busy getting all lined up for the September 1975 Soule Reunion. He will have his first notice in the mail to us soon. Be prepared with a speedy answer. Plan now to attend! You may want to plan for Soule Reunion and Mayflower Convention both. That will be great! Anyway he has reserved some rooms and will need to know if he probably has enough or maybe will need more.

If health permits, I plan both. It is something great to look forward to. I have did it once and want to do it again. Both meetings are the greatest. Great things are on the planning board now.

Second: - Our April issue is a rather small issue. Still no Index. Please do your best to keep the news coming. Send all items of SOULE interests, dates, newspapers names, places and names of senders. We want to give every item and its sender proper credit and that can only be done if each item is labeled at time of mailing. You are the one that furnishes the materials and we want to thank everyone for their co-operation. Keep the news items coming.

School will soon be out, our Young People will be heading out into new fields of work and pleasures. Surely some will be graduating with some honorable mentions. Heading off to College. Travel to some long thought about Historical Site or place of interest. Take a picture, drop us a line, we want to keep up with you and your progress. It will make a nice news item for the summer issue.

QUERIES and ANSWERS column: - This has always come last and must be stopped when the pages balance out to make a printing of sets of four. Sometimes there are some items left over. There is where we begin next time. Some one has asked, "If we paid a fee would we get more items published?" The answer could be "Yes." What is your thoughts?

This type of question should be sent in for discussion with the Board at next meeting if desired. Send to Me: Mrs. Frank A. Crismore, Editor

Roger Turner elected president of genealogical society

Lt. Col. (Ret.) Roger E. Turner (standing), newly-elected president of the Richland County Genealogical Society, looks over copies of "The Heritage", the historical booklet published by the society for school children in Richland County. With him are Willard E. Darling and Mrs. Turner, newly-elected trustees. The three residents of Rt. 2, Perryville, are shown in the Ohio Genealogical Society, 454 Park Avenue West, Mansfield, headquarters of the society.

Genealogical Society to meet

The Richland County Genealogical Society will meet for a covered dish dinner Thursday, Feb. 27, at 6:30 p.m. in the Richland County Museum, 51 W. Church St., Lexington. Members and guests are to bring their own table service and a covered dish dinner.

Miss Fiona Firth, an American Field Service exchange student from Keith, South Australia, will show a film and slides of her homeland.

Lt. Col. Roger E. Turner, newly installed president, said the 1975 yearbook will go to press after March 1.

Lt. Col. (Ret.) Roger E. Turner, Rt. 2, Perryville, has been elected president of the Richland County Genealogical Society for 1975.

Officers elected to serve a one-year term with him are Robert Cuning, vice president; Mrs. Joseph R. Graham, recording secretary; David J. Massa, M.D., of Lexington, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Thomas Hillman, treasurer.

Trustees elected for one year are Willard E. Darling, Rt. 2, Perryville; Mrs. Roger E. Turner, Harry H. McCullough, Robert Morrow, John DeWalt, Mrs. Raymond Dent, Miss Louise Krause and Mrs. R.G. Donaldson.

Lt. Colonel Turner is a veteran of three wars. He served in the Quartermaster Corps for 20 years, coming home in 1951 from service in Japan and Korea to become an instructor of reserve army units at Fort Hayes in Columbus.

A notice of Franklin County, Ohio, Lt. Colonel Turner traces his ancestry back to George Soule who was on the Mayflower and to Zephaniah Rogers who served in the Revolutionary War. His first ancestor into Ohio was Mrs. Susanna Rogers Turner, a widow, who came from Bedford County, Pa., to settle at the first farm back from the Scioto River below Dublin.

He has been a member of the RCGS for five years although he has been interested in history most of his life, the new president became interested in genealogy because of his wife's interest. Gwendolyn Turner's family came to Johnsville in Morrow County with the Shauck family in 1807. Francis Coke is her Mayflower ancestor and Alexander Lemmon is her Revolutionary War ancestor.

Lt. Colonel Turner is a member of 20 clubs and organizations, including the Ohio State University Alumni Club. During his senior year there, he was business manager of The Lantern. He was graduated in 1926 with a bachelor of science degree in journalism. He worked for nine years as an advertising man between World War I and World War II.

He is especially interested in writing, microfilming old newspapers and promoting the Shriners Crippled Children's programs.

ONE MAN'S MEAT

By Dave Richardson

History and genealogy buffs will be interested in a project of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Roger Turner, Rt. 2, Perrysville.

The Turners have compiled many old newspapers from throughout this area. The papers will then be microfilmed by the Ohio Historical Society in Columbus for use by historians and genealogists not only in Ohio but across the nation.

For several years I wondered what became of the old file copies that I knew had existed. Former Publisher G.L. Cherp, I was told, sold or gave them to historian D.W. Garber. From there the papers were at the end of a cold trail. The Turners told me they have them and have spent countless hours indexing, sorting, and preparing them for the microfilming process.

Knox, Richland, and Ashland County papers are in their collection and these include the old Bellville Star, the Bellville Messenger and Independent, The Butler Times and the Tri-Forks Press.

I hope to have a copy of the microfilm on file here, and there will be a copy at the Ohio Genealogical Society.

Although many hundreds of editions of various papers are involved, the copies are not complete and the Turners would be interested in adding to the microfilm collection to get it as complete as possible. If you have old papers and would be willing to share them for this project, call the Star-Press office and tell us the dates and volume numbers so they can be checked against existing copies.

For several years we have been trying to get the file copies here at the Star-Press in order checking for missing copies and illegible ones. It is an off and on project, compounded by a lack of consistency in the numbering- dating on the papers caused by printers' errors.

It is hard to imagine the task which faced the Turners with their old papers.

Old newspapers have little or no cash value but they do have value for historical research.

If you have a few, or many, please call The Star-Press office and give us the volume, number, and date. The Turners have asked that we serve as a clearing house for any additions to make the microfilming process as complete as possible.

Ever More Climbers
In the Family Trees

SECTION F

SUNDAY, APRIL, 6, 1975

By Louise Laque

Washington Star Staff Writer

For Betty Johnson McDaniel, it all began when her Texas grandmother told her over and over again to "act like a lady, Betty, you're a direct descendant of Robert E. Lee."

Now 34, a Suitland housewife and mother of three, Mrs. McDaniel has found by delving into her family past that she is not at all a descendant of Robert E. Lee, (nor of George Washington, which her grandmother also alleged) but of Ninian Beall, who once owned Georgetown, and another ancestor who owned land where the White House now stands.

WHAT MOST EXCITES the Texas rancher's daughter (who has lived in all parts of the country with her Army officer husband), is that her earliest American ancestors are not from Texas at all, but from Prince Georges County, where she has lived for the past two years.

"Isn't it exciting?" she whispered from behind a stack of books and papers at the Library of Congress, one of Washington's four major meccas for ancestor hunters. "This has made dates and place names come alive for me!"

She had parked her children at the Smithsonian for the day, while the day before, she had sent them off to tour the Maryland State House while she upended the Annapolis Hall of Records.

Mrs. McDaniel is one of a growing number of amateur genealogists, an absorbing avocation that now is America's third most popular indoor pastime after stamp and coin collecting.

ONCE THE EXCLUSIVE bailiwick of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who must establish a certain lineage to join; the Mormons, who can baptize their ancestors into their relatively new religion if their names and connections are known; and the American upper class, genealogy has now become open territory.

Not only are wealthy WASPs doing it to insure the publication of their daughter's wedding in the New York Times; Americans of Polish, Italian, French, German, Indian and African descent are doing it too. Anybody who ever had a parent can play.

Besides being greater in number, amateur genealogists are getting younger, where once almost all were retired people. ("The closer they are to the Grim Reaper, the more interested they are in their roots," one librarian whispered.)

THERE ARE TWO WAYS to trace a family tree. One is to hire a professional genealogist, (their names are listed at genealogical libraries, not in the telephone book) which can cost from $2 to $10 an hour, the average price being $5. This can be expensive, considering the process can go on for 20 years or more.

Another is to do it yourself. Professional genealogists say beginners should first read a simple methodology book, such as Gilbert Doane's "Searching for your Ancestors," now published in paperback by Bantam.

Next, the beginner should ransack the house for family records, including the family Bible. He should contact and question all living relatives about the names and birthplaces and birthdates of their parents and grandparents as far as can be remembered. Next local courthouses, cemeteries, churches, libraries, and historical societies should be consulted.

Finally, the amateur is ready to take on what one genealogist calls "The Four Stations of the Cross": the DAR, the Library of Congress, the National Archives, and the National Genealogical Society.

S.F. Port Has a New Director

By Larry Liebert

Boston port director Thomas Taft Soules was named director of the Port of San Francisco yesterday, but the long-delayed appointment caused new rifts at the city's troubled port.

Soules, 55, has been at Boston's port since 1965 and is well-known among maritime experts.

He was nominated by the Port Commission at a closed meeting on Tuesday night, and the appointment was confirmed without comment yesterday by Mayor Joseph Alioto.

The Port Commission vote was 3 to 2, The Chronicle learned, and the dissenting commissioners wrote a blunt "Refused to Sign" before their names on the letter of nomination.

The dissenters were commissioners Gary Vannelli, a lawyer, and Harry Bridges, longshoremen's union president. Both men reportedly were holding out to give the job to Bernard Orsi, who served as temporary port director from August until last week.

Orsi, a close political aide of Alioto, is the city's civil service chief and had no maritime experience before his brief stint at the port.

"I just would have preferred a younger man than Soules," Vannelli said, "and one who knows the political situation in San Francisco."

The letter nominating Soules called him "a truly outstanding person of great professional abilities" and noted he was ranked second among 97 applicants for the job by a prestigious committee of the Chamber of Commerce. The first choice, Raymond C. Conroy, withdrew from the competition.

"Soules is a thoroughly competent administrator with port experience all over the world," said Judge Byron Arnold, one of the port commissioners who voted for Soules, as did James Rudden and Monsignor Matthew Connelly.

Soules — "It's pronounced like the soles of your shoes," he said — promised in a telephone interview from Boston that he will be at work at his new job in San Francisco "by the first of the month."

He is expected to pay an introductory visit to the port within a week.

Although he was unsuccessful in efforts to obtain a binding, two-year contract for the job, Soules said the Port Commission assured him he "will be given a fair chance to do the job — that the appointment is professional rather than political."

Soules will serve at the pleasure of the Port Commission. The job carries an annual salary of $36,000, although Port Commissioners have promised to increase the pay to $44,000 a year under a reorganization plan.

A native of Seattle, Soules came to the Boston port after an international career as a port administrator, including posts with the Arabian American Oil Co. in Saudi Arabia and the port authority of Guayaquil, Ecuador. His wife, Marlene, is a native of Ecuador.

He is third vice president of the American Association of Port Authorities and a member of the executive committee of the International Association of Ports and Harbors.

Soules was a varsity carsman at the University of Washington and spent a year after college as a seaman on a three-masted sailing vessel.

Waterfront veterans in Boston give Soules much of the credit for a reorganization of the Boston port that improved its competitive standing, although his blunt manner reportedly alienated some shippers and maritime labor leaders.

Soules said: "When I came to Boston's port we were losing shipping to New York, a lot like San Francisco has lost customers to Oakland."

In recent months, political conflicts have led to some dismissals of top staff at Boston's port. Although Soules was not directly involved, the turmoil there apparently contributed to his decision to come to San Francisco.

Some of the conflict — of interest allegations at the port here have concerned the purchase in July of Pacific Far East Line, the port's biggest tenant, by relatives of Mayor Joseph Alioto.

Soules said he met Alioto when he came to San Francisco for an interview.

"The mayor is an impressive man with a big handshake," Soules said. "I don't think he'd want to cause any trouble for me."

Dear Mrs. Crismore:

Please note that the three sheets of the genealogical chart I submitted last summer have definite relative positions in composing one whole. When in proper order, the top line reads, in brief: "Seneca Tobias Hyde married Lorraine Amelia Soule" and the actual descent linings meet correctly, the second continuing overleaf to the third. As published in your October issue, the left and middle sheets are reversed, making practical following difficult if not impossible. I bring this to your attention for your information and guidance for whatever purpose may occur.

Mrs. Soule To Present Workshop Program Today

Jean Conder Soule, 125 N. Norwinden Drive, author of juvenile stories and poetry and teacher of creative writing for children and adults, will be one of 53 workshop leaders at the Upper Darby School District Inservice Day, today (Thursday). Mrs. Soule's workshop is entitled, "How to Inspire Children to Write Creatively."

The workshop will be offered twice, once at 10:30 a.m. and again at 1:30 p.m. to accommodate the 55 teachers of elementary students who wish to attend.

Drawing on her experience in writing and in teaching "mini-workshops" in area schools, Mrs. Soule will give facts on writing, suggest ideas to stimulate a child's imagination, and show teachers way she has found helpful in improving student manuscripts.

She will also conduct a half-hour period in which the teachers will be "students" and will actually do the assignments which Mrs. Soule uses effectively in the classroom.

Mrs. Soule is the author of six books for children including the popular NEVER TEASE A WEASEL and SCUTTLE THE STOWAWAY MOUSE.

NOTES OF INTEREST

Janice Pierce new Soule and Mayflower member from California writes, "I take in the Cavalecade series of travel lectures and on March 18, 1975 we are to hear Thayer Soule and see his films on Yugoslavia. His father is a Soule member too."

A note from Clara Hansen our past, Newsletter Indexer and her eyes are improving. We hope she still continues to improve and does get to the Soule Reunion this fall as she is planning.

Note from Mrs. Richard Owen (Bessie Soules Owen)

The Soule Newsletter is most interesting and through it, I have made several contacts with here to unknown kin.

I hope to attend the reunion in Plymouth in September

Dear Cousins:

I am always searching for genealogical data for "lost cousins", and, recently copied the following information from an old Binghamton, N. Y. area City Directory. Just wondered if it would be anything you could use for the newsletter, and, possibly help some other cousins in their search for genealogical data.

1921 - Binghamton, Broome County, New York

SOULE - Chas. R. (Bernice M.) polisher h. 37 Margaret St.
" Volney K. (Kath) real estate 340 O'Neil bldg. h. Dickinson ave., P. D. (Port Dickinson)

SOULES - Hattie A. r 87 Carroll St.
" Sidney S. (Cath. E.) lab h. 111 E. Frederick St.

1921 - Johnson City, Broome County, N. Y.

SOULE - Arthur J. (Addie E.) music tchr h. 35 Broad St.
" Fred B. (Ola M.) sales agt. United Shoe Mach. Co. h. Berkley St.
" Irving shwkr r. 25 Arch St.

SOULES - George R. (Frieda) shwkr h. Pearl Ave., Parkvw.

Perhaps I should explain that shwkr is showworker. This area is the home of Endicott-Johnson Corporation, shoe manufacturers. At one time was the largest manufacturers and tanners in the world, before cheap imports ruined the industry.

Sincerely, Gladys Gladys Birdsall Fiori (Mrs. James V.)

Karla Lynn Soule
Mr. and Mrs. Randall J. Brueck

Soule-Brueck

Karla Lynn Soule became the bride of Randall Joseph Brueck at 7 p.m. March 1 at St. John the Baptist Catholic church. Father Albert Hauser officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. R.W. Soule, Winchester, Ky., and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brueck, 614 Cedar.

Attending the couple were Carolyn Soule, sister of the bride, maid of honor, and Tim Brueck, brother of the bridegroom, best man.

Bridesmaids were Lora Weyls, Judith Schach and Mindy Brueck, sister of the bridegroom, and groomsmen were Terry Trail, Brad Soule, brother of the bride, and Gary Dean. Dennis Brueck was usher. Robert Soule, brother of the bride, played trumpet with the organ during the wedding ceremony.

The bride chose a floor-length, white organza over bridal taffeta gown styled with a high ruffle-edged illusion neckline, long sheer bishop sleeves and a raised-waistline. Pink organza, entwined in Venise lace and edged in organza ruffling, formed a deep V on the bodice and encircled the hemline of the gown and the attached chapel train.

Her two-tiered illusion veil flowed from a Camelot lace headpiece trimmed in pink ribbon. The bride carried pink roses and white ivy.

The attendants wore long, pale pink crepe gowns featuring high necklines, long full sleeves and wide cummerbunds. Ruffled lace highlighted the dress and formed a yoke on the bodice. They carried nosegays of pink daisies and cornflowers. In their hair they wore three pink daisies.

Mrs. Rolland Willey was hostess at the reception at Holiday Inn. Serving were Teresa Bennett, cake; Sue Ringold, coffee; and Jan Trail, punch. Josie Morgan and Doreen Nellor attended gifts and Sylvia Soule registered guests.

Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Brueck are at home at 538 Summer.

A 1973 Burlington high school graduate, the bride is employed at Apothecary 24. The bridegroom, a 1972 BHS graduate, is employed at Winegard TV Co.

Trying to find the family of William T. Sowles, born 17 Apr. 1832, Where? He lived in Jefferson, Nebraska about 1871, died 29 April 1919, Santa Ana, Orange Co., Calif. Married Celia Dockens or Celia Coffman.

Lineage that gives George¹ Soule, Nathaniel² (m) Rose Thorn, Nathaniel³ (m) Hannah Maycomber, Wesson⁴ (m) Ruhama Hicks, James⁵, (m) Patience Maycomber, William L. (or T.)⁶, (m) Elizabeth Williams (b. 19 March 1790 - Pa.? Vermont? or Mass.?) Had son William Henry⁷, married Celia Coffman Dockins (b. 17 April 1832 Vermont? or New Hampshire?, died 29 April 1919, Santa Ana, Calif. Had son Chester Fields Sowles (m) Chriscelia Bell Sischo. Had son Merville Francis Soules (m) Mabel Chantry. (I was the second wife of Merville Francis Soules.)

Believe #7 Soule spelled the name Sowles. Believes Wm. L (T), his wife and three children were in Alburg, Grande Isle Co., Vermont in 1830.

When #6 and #7 are proven then family group sheets can be made on #7, #8, #9 and #10.

Is there some one that can help this family prove their lineage back to George¹ Soule? Is there some one to help find the missing link of proof needed?

Mr. James J. Sowle 609 N. Morton. L27. St. Johns, Mich. 48879

I am a descendant of the following Soule/ Sowle family.

In the will of my gr- gr grandfather, James Sowle, Hatter, of Saratoga, Albany Co., N.Y. dated Mar. 24, 1785, he mentions his son Jonathan, with his other children.

Our family bible records gives the names of his sons James and Robert, but no mention of Jonathan.

In Rev. Ridlon's book, Vol.2, page 929 we find the children:

Lavina b. 1776; Deborah b. 1768; Lydia b. 1770. These we find correct.

James was married 1st to Mary White who died in 1777. He then married Jemima Coffin Russell in 1781. We find in the book- a James born 1777 to James and Jemima Sowle. Should this have been James and Mary White Sowle? And did this child and the mother both die in 1777?

Another son James (my great grandfather) was born to James and Jemima Feb. 2, 1783, and the only James to be mentioned further.

The other children(also given in Rev. Ridlon's book) are Eunice, Robert Hannah and Jonathan. Can any one give us the correct dates on them, and the mother of each? Will be much appreciated.
